PREFACE.

---

In presenting the XXV volume of the "Atlanta City Directory," we would invite your attention to the following facts:

That it is the same book that you have been using for the last 25 years—the book that started and grew with Atlanta, the book that is part and parcel of Atlanta, the book that was founded by Mr. Weatherby, continued by Mr. Sholes, kept up by Mr. Polk, brought well-nigh to perfection by Mr. Sanders, and finally bought from Mrs. Sanders by Mr. V. V. Bullock, who sold it to us last year with all its rights, title, privileges and good-will.

In buying it, we decided to bury the "Foote & Davies Directory of Atlanta" and devote our best thought and efforts to making this book as good as the best published by any city in the world; all we ask is to watch us from year to year, and give us the same encouragement and support in the future that you gave others in the past.

In facing the new century, we feel that as citizens of Atlanta, we have abundant cause for congratulation. We have the greatest building boom in its history, the highest priced real estate ever known, the Viaduct assured, the Soldiers' Home a fact, the Federal Prison a reality, a Reformatory within reach, competition in public utilities, the best transportation and lighting facilities in the Union, the highest and healthiest city of its size in the world, and the pluckiest, most enterprising and progressive citizens on earth, men who will make the "Southern Textile Exposition of 1902" the grandest educational and financial success in the history of the South.

In our humble way, we expect to keep pace with the times in our directory by the addition of new and valuable features as circumstances will permit; we would mention a few of this year's.

1st. A complete list of all industries and manufacturing enterprises; we recognize their value and wish to do all in our power to encourage them.

2d. A complete mortuary list for last year. People frequently look for persons whom they do not know are dead, and failing to find them, think the directory at fault; the mortuary list disposes of their doubts.

3d. A beautiful, artistic, new, modern, clean, clear dress of type purchased expressly for this book.

4th. A timely delivery, a thing unknown for years gone by.

5th. A remarkably attractive list of advertisements, representing the most progressive, reliable and successful firms in our city; the firms who have made history and money in Atlanta, and who recognize the unrivalled advantages of directory advertising.

6th. The churches appearing in proper compilation throughout the alphabetical department.

7th. The insurance companies likewise arranged.

8th. The wife's name, following that of the husband.

9th. No advertisements appearing mixed in with the information.

10th. Typographically the handsomest book ever published in Atlanta.

We are of Atlanta, for Atlanta, and with Atlanta, first, last and all the time, so when you want anything pertaining to a directory, remember we are in the business.
